

Erin B. Hudnall

Graduate Student
Graduate Research Assistant
West Virginia University
Department of Sociology and Anthropology
ehudnall@mix.wvu.edu

Education

Doctoral Student of Sociology, West Virginia University (2016 - Present)

BA, Sociology, West Virginia Wesleyan College, summa cum laude (2012 - 2016)

Academic Positions

Graduate Research Assistant to Dr. Lynne Cossman, West Virginia University (2018-present)
Assisting in evaluation of a health coalition.

Graduate Research Assistant to Dr. Katie E. Corcoran, West Virginia University (2016 - 2018)
Completed research for composition of literature review for a two grant proposals and academic articles.

Research Assistant, West Virginia Wesleyan College (2015 - 2016)
Completed research proposal and IRB documents, composed literature review, facilitated informed consent and survey of 30 students, organized and statistically analyzed data.

Research Assistant, Centers for Neuroscience, West Virginia University (2015)
Facilitated informed consent and inclusion/exclusion forms, conducted phone interviews, trained participants in study procedures, monitored participant vitals, and recorded and filed data.

Presentations

Erin Hudnall. 2018. "Creating the Need to Serve: How Spontaneous Disaster Volunteers' Motivations and Experience Influence Willingness for Continued Volunteerism." Presented at the North Central Sociological Association Annual Conference.

Erin Hudnall. 2018. "You're allowed to look like that!": Fostering Female Strength in the Functional Fitness Community." Presented at the North Central Sociological Association Annual Conference.

Erin Hudnall. 2018. "What is Fit Shaming? A Content Analysis of #Fitshaming Instagram Posts." Presented at the North Central Sociological Association Annual Conference.

Erin Hudnall. 2017. "Can Learning Communities Bridge the Integration Gap for At-Risk Students? An Evaluation of a Sociology Learning Community Pilot Study." Presented at the North Central Sociological Association Annual Conference.

Erin Hudnall. 2016. "Gendered Experiences of Women in the Holocaust." Presented at the West Virginia Wesleyan College's Undergraduate Research Conference. Received first place prize for Humanities.

Erin Hudnall. 2015. "Dopaminergic Genetic Variation Moderates the Effect of Nicotine on Cigarette Reward." Presented at West Virginia University's Centers for Neuroscience Annual Summer Conference.

Publications

Corcoran, Katie E., Christopher Scheitle, and Erin B. Hudnall. "Organizational Activities and Property Crime Victimization." Sociological Quarterly. Forthcoming.

Scheitle, Christopher, Katie E. Corcoran, and Erin B. Hudnall. "Adopting a Stigmatized Label: Social Determinants of Identifying as an Atheist beyond Disbelief." Social Forces. Forthcoming.

Papers in Progress

Dilks, Lisa and Erin B. Hudnall. "Selfless Good Deeds? The Influence of Volunteer Motivations on Service Hours"

Hudnall, Erin B. "Creating the Need to Serve: How West Virginia Spontaneous Disaster Volunteers Motivations and Experiences Influence Continued Volunteerism."

Hudnall, Erin B., Christopher Scheitle, and Katie E. Corcoran. "Is West Virginia a Religious Void? An Investigation."

Stein, Rachel, Corey Colyer, and Erin B. Hudnall. "Cooperative Learning Strategies: Using Grades as a 'Trojan Horse'"

Community-Based Research Collaborations

Potomac Highlands Volunteer Center, Parsons, WV (2018 – present)

Assisting staff in establishing knowledge of and relationships with community stakeholders through survey research.

Volunteer West Virginia, Charleston, WV (2017 – present)

Assisting staff in creating volunteer recruitment and retainment strategies as well as consultation on disaster volunteerism.